RE: State of Maine v. NRC, No. 00-1476 (D.C. Cir., dismissed Jan. 10, 2001)

Dear Chairman:

Petitioner in this lawsuit, the State of Maine, challenged the NRC's rule certifying the so called NAC-UMS dry cask storage system for spent nuclear fuel. Maine moved for a stay of the rule, and we filed an opposition to the stay motion. Prior to any judicial decision, however, we reached a settlement agreement with Maine whereby Maine withdrew its lawsuit, and the NRC gave the Department of Energy an opportunity to comment on the transportation aspects of the NAC-UMS system.

The court of appeals subsequently granted Maine's motion for voluntary dismissal of its suit.

Sincerely,

/R
