Michael K. Clark
Executive Vice President
Institutional Trust Services

November 1, 2001

Dear Valued Client:

As 2001 started, The Chase Manhattan Corporation and J. P. Morgan & Co. Incorporated merged to form J.P. Morgan Chase & Co., a world-class financial services holding company. On November 10, 2001, we will reach a significant milestone when our two flagship banks merge. Morgan Guaranty Trust Company of New York will merge into The Chase Manhattan Bank, which will be renamed JPMorgan Chase Bank.

Subsequently, various affiliates of the banks will be consolidated and renamed. Two affiliates performing JPMorgan Institutional Trust Services, Chase Manhattan Trust Company, National Association and Chase Manhattan Bank and Trust Company, National Association, will merge on December 1, 2001 into the latter, which will be called J.P. Morgan Trust Company, National Association.

- We ask that all checks payable to us reflect the new names:
 - JPMorgan Chase Bank in lieu of The Chase Manhattan Bank as of November 10, 2001, and
 - J.P. Morgan Trust Company, National Association in lieu of Chase Manhattan Trust Company, National Association or Chase Manhattan Bank and Trust Company, National Association as of December 1, 2001.
- Payment routing numbers and identifiers will remain the same – only the name of the bank changes to JPMorgan Chase Bank as of November 10, 2001.

These are the only changes required at this time. Over time, you will see changes in documents and on stationery reflecting the new names. Your relationship manager will remain the same, and should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to call.

JPMorgan Institutional Trust Services is committed to its leadership in meeting the transaction management needs of debt issuers, intermediaries and investors in the global capital markets. We deliver upon that commitment by providing innovative solutions that are supported by ongoing investments in technology and other resources, expert customer service and the global reach of JPMorgan. Please note that if you do business with other parts of the firm, it is likely that you will also receive merger-related communications from our colleagues.

It is our privilege to have you as our client. We encourage you to contact your relationship manager with any questions you might have. If you have a banking challenge that we can help you resolve, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely,

The Chase Manhattan Bank • 450 West 33rd Street, New York, NY 10001
