Several commenters requested NRC continue its effort to provide invoices that contain more meaningful descriptions of the work done by NRC staff and NRC contractors.

Response:

The Office of NMSS has ~~established~~ specific policy and procedures guidance for staff to follow in recording time in the "Regulatory Information Tracking System" which is the Agency's current system for tracking all staff hours expended. The system contains specific codes for the various types of licensing reviews, leave, training, general administration, etc., for staff's use, and the fee billing system captures the billable hours, as well as the work effort code descriptions for the billable hours. Subsequently, the billable hours and the code descriptions are printed on the invoice. Currently, the code descriptions are ~~this is~~ the only available data for the ~~descriptions on the~~ work performed. Additional detail, (e.g., on license reviews ~~what specific licensing issues~~ were reviewed) may be requested by contacting the staff person responsible for the docket. This has always been an option available to licensees and applicants.

For contractor costs, the NRC provides copies of the summary cost report with the invoices to the uranium recovery licensee class, as previously agreed. Again, if additional information is needed, a request should be made to staff and additional information will be provided.
