Aquatic Ecology Issues

Virginia Electric and Power Company (VEPCo) provided the following responses to NRC questions:

NRC Question: Your letter dated June 24, 1986, to the Virginia State Water Board, submitting the 316(a) report, described the planned ongoing fisheries monitoring program. In relation to this program, please provide the following:

- a. Has the monitoring program been reviewed every three years as described in the letter?
- b. If any changes have been made to the program as a consequence of these reviews, provide a description of these changes.
- c. Item (2) on pages 6-7 of the letter described planned detailed studies of important fish species. Describe any studies that were done and provide copies of any reports documenting their results (beyond what is reported in the annual reports).
- d. Item (4) on page 7 of the letter described planned support of graduate student studies. Describe any studies that were done and provide copies of any published results.

VEPCo Responses:

- a. We have done the 3-year reviews as per the agreement and they are a part of the annual reports as submitted in the body of the report. Each year the annual reports as well as the 3-year summary reports are submitted to the Virginia Department of Environmental Quality and the Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries.
- b. As a result of the thorough data analysis in the 3-year reviews we have reduced and/or eliminated some parts of the monitoring at North Anna. The reductions are clearly outlined in the 3-year reports. Most of the reductions occurred in the first 3-year review in 1989 as a result of seeing absolutely no changes in the trend analysis over the life of the lake. In addition during that time we completed the addition of some 21 artificial fish structures in the lake each comprised of several thousands of cinderblocks and tree-tops.
- c. We continued the ongoing studies of the suite of fish in the lake and river downstream as prescribed in the post 316a letter during the first 3-year period including such analyses as age/growth evaluations for largemouth bass. All of these studies are presented in each of the annual reports. As a part of the first 3-year summary report we requested that we take a more "holistic" approach to monitoring of the fisheries in the lake and in the river and that being to continue with the routine quarterly electrofishing and gill netting in the lake and the river and at the same stations employing the same techniques as had been used since the studies were initiated following impoundment. These studies are ongoing and there have been no real changes in the long-term trend analyses. Basically the lake and the river continue to support a healthy and viable population of fish including a strong prey base as well as a predator population.

- d. We funded 4 graduate studies on the lake and the river two of which were completed and theses published. The other two were not completed for whatever reasons and their findings were simply summarized. The graduate research program was eliminated in the late 80's because of no applications for the grant monies. Later the river downstream was selected by Oak Ridge National Laboratory as a site for testing and further research of some of its Comp-Mech theories and several theses and doctoral dissertations resulted from these investigations.

NRC Question:

Provide any information you may have concerning the potential of the North Anna River (either prior to Lake Anna impoundment or with subsequent restoration) to support anadromous fish runs.

VEPCo Response:

Pre-impoundment studies of the North Anna River were conducted by Drs. J.R.Reed and George Simmons. Their collections included very few anadromous fish and the clupeids they did collect were restricted to the sampling stations in the Pamunkey River well downstream of the proposed dam site. In the 1960 FWS publication outlining the status of the American Shad on the east coast the authors describe that American Shad were seldom found upstream of a point in the Pamunkey River some 30 miles above the confluence of the Pamunkey and the Mattaponi at West Point. This means that the American Shad runs were about 100 miles below the proposed North Anna dam. Reed and Simmons also state that their fish collections in the immediate site of the new reservoir were very low in terms of both numbers and species attributable to the impacts from acid mine drainage from Contrary Creek. The diadromous American Eel however was collected in almost all collections at almost all sampling sites and today is still collected in our routine electrofishing at the downriver stations.

Socioeconomic Issues

NRC Question:

Where do the permanent and contract employees reside. Data are needed by city and county of residence. An employee list with zip codes would be an acceptable alternative.

VEPCo Response:

Attached please see zip code and residence spreadsheet. Note sort order is for Surry first by County, followed by North Anna. The last column for 9-digit zip is for formula use only, so don't delete that data or else zeros will show up in the 5-digit column.

NRC Question:

Where do contract employees stay during refueling operations? Are they similarly dispersed as the permanent/contract employees at North Anna Power Station?

VEPCo Response:

Please consider transient residences as similarly proportionate to permanent residences.
