1. The first group of people who are affected by this disease are the young people who are born with it. They are usually born with a defect in the way their body processes certain fats, which can lead to a build-up of these fats in their arteries and other parts of their body. This can cause atherosclerosis, which is a hardening of the arteries that can lead to heart disease and stroke.

I am opposed to the NRC proposed rulemaking as described in The Federal Register, April 16, 2001, Vol. 66 to change the licensing hearing process for nuclear power reactors. The public is entitled to full and meaningful participation in an on-the-record hearing process for the licensing of new reactors, the relicensing of aging reactors and industry amendments to operating license safety requirements.
