Subject: Standardized Advanced NUHOMS-24PT1 Proposed Amendment

As I promised earlier today, this e-mail provides OE's concurrence with the subject proposed rule. The only comment that we had, as I explained on the phone, dealt with the explanation on page 9: "This rule would permit general licensees to use the Standardized Advanced NUHOMS-24PT1 cask design." This sentence should be augmented to indicate that the cask would be used for fuel storage only. There is potential for confusion with the existing wording because the paragraph before explains that one of the design differences between this cask and the previous design is that it is designed to be transportable. Thank you,
