NRC people: Unacceptable is the fact that you are even considering the effort by an intending license applicant to manipulate the licensing procedure in its favor. What LES is doing is trying to circumvent the public and government investigation into areas where the company knows itself to be vulnerable. This whole thing sets a dangerous precedent, and as an interested citizen, I am totally against it. Further more time is needed for comments. This rushing and ramrodding things through seems to bear the Bush signature. Oh, the things you do when we're not constantly looking. How about cutting that unacceptable behavior now. Thank you.
