Dear Mr. Boardman:

This is in response to your e-mail to me, dated June 3, 2003, providing information on your company, Indiana Manufacturing, Inc., and your product, the High Threat Steel Swing Gate.

The Swing Gate project concept appears innovative and appears to offer advantages for enhancing security. At this time, the Swing Gate does not appear to be an application for which the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) has an identified need. In addition, NRC's regulatory responsibilities do not allow for endorsement of products or services to its licensees.

I appreciate your offer to meet with me to discuss this product; however, due to the reasons cited above, it would be more advantageous for you to pursue other avenues for your product. Thank you for your interest in NRC activities.

Sincerely,

/RA/
