Subject: Radioactive waste rulemaking scoping process

2160

I do not want radioactive wastes released to be recycled.
This is not necessary and could result in much avoidable exposure of humans and the environment to radioactivity.

None of the options under consideration are acceptable to me, as they allow more radioactive materials to be released into the environment.

If NRC decides to proceed with this rulemaking, it should concentrate on identifying and requiring isolation, monitoring and management for the hazardous life of all the waste. The goal should be to keep track of and isolate radioactivity and all materials contaminated with it, generated by nuclear power and weapons fuel chain industries, from the environment, workers and the public.
