OFFICE OF SECRETARY
RULEMAKINGS AND ADJUDICATIONS STAFF

Dear Sir:

We hear that there is a vote coming up on June 30, 2003 to use "Low Level Radioactive Waste" in other consumer products and goods.

That the steel companies are against this; as they would be making steel structures for bridges etc. and then be making canisters for processed food.

This is an outrageous idea!! Our world and environment is polluted enough with all kinds of waste material. We certainly do not need Radioactive waste in consumer products, bridges, building structures etc.

Also hear that Bush wants to build 22 more nuclear plants across the U.S. We are opposed to this idea too.

We the people should have a chance to vote on all the crazy ideas the people down there in D.C. come up with.

You certainly do not care about the nation as a whole. We are against the "Low Level Radioactive Waste" idea.

Sincerely Beverly L. Metras Carl & Victoria
