Subject: Fwd: Federal Radiological Emergency Response Plan

Hi Carl and Bill. I have a question about our roles in reviewing information requests from the public.

The forwarded request came from a military contractor. He is looking for the most current Federal Radiological Emergency Response Plan. He already has one dated May 1, 1996. I did a search on the old external web to see if I could find this plan. The only one I found was dated May 1, 1996. The plan was located on an AEOD web address. I'm wondering what my responsibility is here.....do I spend a lot of time tracking down who in RES or IRO is responsible for the plan and ask them if there is a revised one and if that plan can be released to the public.....or, do I refer Sue Gagner to RES or IRO and if so, who is our counterpart there?
