

From: Mindy Landau
To: Gilbert Millman
Date: 12/17/01 3:24PM
Subject: Re: NUREG Approval for Publication

I doubt that the final criteria will change much from the draft, but I like the holding pin idea!

>>> Gilbert Millman 12/17/01 03:14PM >>>

Mindy, Except for the benign, nothing will actually be pre-approved since they will be measured against the draft criteria. I guess we could say they were pre-evaluated and put in a holding bin pending final evaluation against the final criteria. Talk about getting wrapped around an axle. Gil

>>> Mindy Landau 12/17/01 03:09PM >>>

Gill, you don't need my approval - only if it's a general public audience NUREG. As for the technical type, so long as RES determines it meets the criteria, it should go through the existing OCIO approval process. Make sure you keep records on which NUREGs have been approved, so that when it comes time for the web NUREGs to be re-posted, you know which ones have been pre-approved.

>>> Gilbert Millman 12/17/01 03:03PM >>>

Walt, As the RES liaison with OCIO, who do I contact in OCIO to request paper publication of a NUREG that has been division level reviewed/approved through the vulnerability (draft) criteria review process? Would it be Nita, Paula?

Mindy, Do I inform you, or request approval from you to publish a paper NUREG that has been reviewed/approved against the existing vulnerability criteria? Gil