 Subject: Re: RES work for the fire manual actions rule

DSSA/SPLB has committed to brief the ACRS Subcommittee on Manual Actions rulemaking issue on September 8. I anticipate that there will be questions on effectiveness of manual actions in terms of human reliability. I am hoping that the working group would have a focused knowledge through researched of technical information to answer those questions. The briefing material, including knowledge gained through researched is to be sent to the ACRS by early August. While you are gone, will there be anyone who could push your work along?

 Dear David:

RES

I have to go Greece unexpectedly (not for a bad thing though). I will be back on July 27. In the mean time JForester, Sandia is on annual leave. Therefore, I will not be able to initiate the work on fire manual actions before the end of this month.

- ① Plant Systems + RPIIP = will do briefing.
- ② We (and risk S) will be there to support re: ACRS questions.
 (HF) = support role.
- ③ Diec - doesn't know what = doing re: briefing.

=
 X AND = being used by Diec - re: sample to use in preparedness rule.
 =
 set of conditions for human reliability ?? So it will ??
