Subject: Proposed new reactors

Need for new reactors needs re-evaluation. If as much taxpayer money were put into research on renewable energy sources and on increased energy efficiency and conservation as has been put into subsidizing the nuclear industry, we would not be facing the increased energy needs that call for more nuclear reactors. Regarding the production of more nuclear waste that was not present on the planet before humans arrived, it is immoral to create this waste for people to deal with 75,000 years from now, when we do not have a clue as to how to guarantee the safety of storage of waste for that period of time. People in the future will look back at our society and view us as arrogant, wasteful, selfish, and greedy. I vehemently oppose any new reactors.
