Scott,

Please don't read into too much. I have to give him [REDACTED] the benefit of the doubt. He really tried to send a strong message for safety conscious work environment. One element can be feedback as we described in the letter. That lack of feedback can lead to perceptions that may actually be incorrect in regard to safety. I was just trying to be as critical as I could and I think [REDACTED] overall sent a good message. Overall [REDACTED] were very serious and were in total agreement with the regulatory action in their presentation. 10

I would like to talk a little more about [REDACTED] reaction. Can you call me at your confidence some time tomorrow?

Dan Orr's summary of today's site-wide meeting at Salem and Hope Creek is summarized in the attached file. Dan believes that PSEG management addressed the NRC letter in a generally appropriate manner.

Separately, he indicated that he sensed today's press release would have a similar tone (but we'll see how good his senses are when it's issued; no guarantees).
