The Staff Requirements Memorandum for SECY -05-0212, the Commission directed the staff to ensure that future rulemaking consider the need to include employee protection, including the imposition of civil penalties, for contractors and subcontractors.

The Rulemaking Coordination Committee (RCC) met on this tasking, and plans to implement the following actions to ensure that future rulemakings are evaluated for the need to include provisions for protection of employees contractors and subcontractors, including provisions for civil penalties.

1. The Office of Administration, and the lead office for Agency oversight of the rulemaking process, will modify Management Directive 6.3 to incorporate this specific consideration for future rulemakings. In addition, ADM will update the rulemaking website to highlight this factor for future rulemakings.
2. The Office of the General Counsel will update their rulemaking checklist to incorporate this consideration.
3. The Offices of Nuclear Reactor Regulation and Nuclear Material Safety and Safeguards will incorporate this guidance in their next update on rulemaking.
4. The staff will update the periodic rulemaking training program to include this provision.
