

3.0 Additional Certified Design Material

This section provides additional certified design material for those aspects of the Certified Design that cannot be conveniently covered in the system-by-system information presented in Section 2.0. This additional material addresses plant-wide, multi-system issues; the extent to which the material applies to each of the individual Section 2.0 systems is defined by scope/application discussions in each of the Section 3.0 entries.