I am in the process of consulting with state agencies but as I indicated, I will not have any response to share today. I am regretfully out of the office at a funeral tomorrow afternoon so I believe Monday may be a better day to continue our discussion. However, from my initial review it appears that you have failed to address a critical document, the attached New York Department of State's 2006 Routine Program Change which is controlling as to this issue. Please advise on how your proposed motion squares with this document. In the meantime I propose rescheduling today's 2:30pm call to 10am on Monday.

Thank you,
 Janice

Janice--

As we discussed this morning, 15 U.S.C. 930.51(e), says "[t]he determination of substantially different coastal effects under paragraphs (b)(3) and (c) of this section is made on a case-by-case basis by the Federal agency after consulting with the State agency, and applicant. The Federal Register discussion of section 930.51(e) is found at 71 Fed. Reg. 795, and states: "NOAA did not intend to use the phrase to have the State agency make the decision on whether coastal effects are substantially different. Thus, to provide clarification, NOAA has amended the section so that the Federal permitting agency makes this determination after consulting with the State and applicant. If a State disagrees with a Federal agency's determination concerning substantially different coastal effects, then the State could either request NOAA mediation or seek judicial review to resolve the factual dispute."

As discussed this morning, we will reconvene the consultation about Entergy's position tomorrow afternoon after your previously scheduled call regarding in limine motions tomorrow at 2. I understand that call should last no more than 30 minutes.

My assistant Angela Threatt will circulate a call in number for a call at 2:30 tomorrow. I will look forward to speaking with you then.

Bobby, could you please identify a pin cite for your reliance on 71 Fed. Reg. 795 to support the NRC's authority over the CZMA?

Thank you,
 Janice

I look forward to meeting everyone by telephone tomorrow morning at 10. My contact information is below.

In response to Janice Dean's question, we will elaborate on that issue and others during tomorrow's call. Among the citations supporting a declaratory order are 5 USC 554(e) and 10 CFR 2.319(r).

Also, I am enclosing the documents requested by Deborah Brancato.

Everyone have a good evening.

Thank you. We are looking into this. I'm unfamiliar with a Motion for Declaratory Order; is there a specific regulatory provision you're moving under?

Thank you,
