MR. KNOKE: NRC Operations Center,
recorded line, how may I help you?

MALE PARTICIPANT: Yes. Hold on a minute.
I got, I was just curious. For one, I'd like to know who I'm talking to first.

MR. KNOKE: Okay. Can you hold on one
second please?

(Pause.)

MR. KNOKE: NRC Operations Center recorded
line. How may I help you?

FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Oh, I missed the
call. You're going to have a call at eight, right?

MR. KNOKE: Yes.

FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Could you just give me the dial-in number again?

MR. KNOKE: Let's see. It's 1-800-772-
3842, and the code is (b)(6)

FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Okay, alrightee. I will try to call. I'm going to be on the line with the Chairman at 7:30, but if it ends, I'll try the eight o'clock, okay?

MR. KNOKE: Thank you.

FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Thanks, bye.

1 MR. KNOKE: I'm sorry to keep your
2 waiting, sir. What was your question?

3 MALE PARTICIPANT: Well, I'm trying to --
4 I had some ideas, just because of what's going on over
5 in Japan.

6 MR. KNOKE: Yes. If you have ideas, then
7 you --

8 MALE PARTICIPANT: I don't have a computer
9 or nothing.

10 MR. KNOKE: Oh.

11 MALE PARTICIPANT: I can't submit nothing.
12 I've been on the phone trying to call somebody for 13 the last couple of days, and I finally got -- somebody
14 finally gave me this number, about with you guys.

15 MR. KNOKE: Well, all I can say is that,
16 you know, we're submitting requests by way of email,
17 but we're --

18 MALE PARTICIPANT: I'm curious, and I
19 can't believe that nobody, I mean --

20 MR. KNOKE: Well, yeah. Our organization
21 is fully staffed and handling the problem, sir. It's 22 not like we're ignoring it. So we have --

23 MALE PARTICIPANT: Oh no --

24 MR. KNOKE: We have a lot of experts
25 looking at this situation, both here and over in

1 Japan.

2 MALE PARTICIPANT: You can take my idea.
3 I don't care who takes my idea. Have they ever
4 thought about taking -- why don't all the, especially
5 here in America, if we've got over 100 nuclear 6 facilities?

7 MR. KNOKE: Yes.

8 MALE PARTICIPANT: Why don't they have
9 storage facilities with dry ice in them, and there's 10 no power involved except keeping the dry ice there, if 11 all America was to shut down and we had no power.

12 MR. KNOKE: Well, we've actually had
13 several people mention dry ice. So we are looking 14 into that.

15 MALE PARTICIPANT: I mean they can dump it
16 right there or even big chunks of ice.

17 MR. KNOKE: Okay. Well, thank you for 18 your recommendation, and I'll forward it.

19 MALE PARTICIPANT: Well, I think it's a
20 hell of an idea, because I mean it's just, it's basic 21 science.

22 MR. KNOKE: Okay. I appreciate your
23 concern. Have a good evening.

24 MALE PARTICIPANT: Back to you sir.

MR. KNOKE: Yes.

MALE PARTICIPANT: Yes. The reason I'm calling is because I received a call from Stanley Cadossi (ph).

MR. KNOKE: Okay. You're NRC Support Center?

MALE PARTICIPANT: Yes. I'm like IT support.

MR. KNOKE: Uh-huh.

MALE PARTICIPANT: And he says he's unable to get into the NRC eLibrary.

MR. KNOKE: Okay. Well, this is the Emergency Operations Center. I'm not the tech support. You might try 415-1234.

MALE PARTICIPANT: Yeah. I'm 415-1234.

MR. KNOKE: Yeah, you are that?

MALE PARTICIPANT: Yeah.

MR. KNOKE: Well, I don't know about the eLibrary.

MR. BALDWIN: Hi, this is Greg Baldwin at the Defense Threat Reduction Agency Operations Center. I'm calling for Jeff Lynch. Is he available?

MR. SNYDER: Jeff Lynch. Don't know where Jeff is at. Do you know where he's at?

MR. BALDWIN: I don't. He called from this number earlier.

MR. SNYDER: Not from -- well, see. This number is for our Operations Center. It's for a phone switch in our Operations Center, and there's any of 120 people it could go to, so -- I mean, you know, if I don't know what number Jeff's at, you know I --

MR. BALDWIN: I think he also called from a 5208 extension, but I just tried that one, and he wasn't, nobody answered that.

MR. SNYDER: Okay. Let me see if I can transfer you back there, and you're from Defense Threat Reduction Agency?

I was in the nuclear power business for 14 years, and I was in quality engineering, and I was wondering if you guys were looking for anybody to help you out with that situation over in Japan.

I've worked at several power plants in Washington state, and also the -- you name it just about, every nuclear power plant. I'm single now and --

MR. SNYDER: Okay. I mean have you ever considered applying to the NRC online?

MR. BRAUN: Yes, I did, in fact, one time.

MR. SNYDER: Okay.

MR. BRAUN: But I had kids then.

MR. SNYDER: Okay. Well I mean, you know, take a look at the open job announcements and apply again. That would be the best way to do it.

(Phone ringing.)

MR. SNYDER: NRC Operations Center. This is a recorded line. Can I help you?

MR. ROBINSON: Hey, how are you?

MR. SNYDER: Good. Well, busy.

MR. ROBINSON: Alex Robinson calling from Japan from USSJ.

MR. SNYDER: USSJ?

MR. ROBINSON: Yes, the military command, that's supporting the station here, that is the coordinated effort to do all the assistance.

MR. SNYDER: Okay.

MR. ROBINSON: I'm from DITRA though, and I'm supporting the Command, and I was trying to talk to Jim Trapp, but he's not -- I get his voicemail. That ain't going to do me any good, so here's what I need. I need to talk to him. I've got the Japanese representative, and he's got -- let's see. How can I articulate this to do what I need you to do.

MR. SNYDER: Well, yeah. I was going to put you in touch with our International Liaison folks, and they should know where all those guys are.

MR. ROBINSON: Oh yeah, that's right.

10 FEMALE PARTICIPANT: NRC Operations
11 Center, this call is being recorded.

12 MR. SNYDER: Hi. Headquarters Ops
13 Officer. I've got somebody on line from Military
14 Command Center in Japan, and they said that they need
15 to talk to Jim Trapp or I guess somebody from the NRC
16 over there, and I figured you guys might know where 17 they're at or their status.

18 FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Yes. I can provide

12 turnover? I'm sorry to be grilling you.

13 MR. SNYDER: No. I mean, I don't know,
14 probably within the last few minutes or so. I mean
15 people have been kind of trickling in. I mean I guess
16 the official turnover time is seven o'clock maybe.
17 Let's see here. I can try to find Jane's BlackBerry
18 number, so you can -- I'll just hook you straight
19 through to her, even if she's not paying attention,
20 and you'll be able to talk to her, okay.

21 MR. DUDEK: All right, that's fine.

22 MR. SNYDER: Here. Let me patch you

5 MR. VAN NESS: Yeah, hi. My name is
6 Theodore Van Ness. I live in New Jersey. I'm fairly
7 close to the Oyster Creek nuclear facility. I just 8 wanted to make a comment. If we're going to continue
9 down the road of nuclear energy, what I think is we 10 need more than just one delivery system for water, to 11 shut down in the reactor in the event.

12 I understand we've got redundancy systems
13 right now that only support one way of delivering 14 water okay.

15 MR. SNYDER: Not true.

16 MR. VAN NESS: I understand there's
17 generators and stuff like that, but there are many 18 other means of supplying water to a reactor.

19 MR. SNYDER: Right, right. There's many 20 means --

21 MR. VAN NESS: You can set up something
22 with the reservoir.

23 MR. SNYDER: --on these plants right now.

24 MR. VAN NESS: What's that?

25 MR. SNYDER: I said there's many means on

1 the plants right now, especially Oyster Creek. I mean
2 we've got a guy that works for us right now that used
3 to be an operator there.

4 MR. VAN NESS: Right.

5 MR. SNYDER: And you know, he knows for
6 sure. I mean there's many, many ways to get water to 7 the plant in Oyster Creek.

8 MR. VAN NESS: Well, what I'm saying is 9 right now what they're using, and just like with 10 Japan, they have pumps that pump the water in.

11 MR. SNYDER: That's right.

12 MR. VAN NESS: But I mean you can't just 13 rely on your pumps.

14 MR. SNYDER: Right. They got many
15 different diverse types of pumps.

16 MR. VAN NESS: Oh, okay.

17 MR. SNYDER: I mean in other words, they 18 got some that work just on steam.

19 MR. VAN NESS: Right. Oh, I know what
20 you're saying.

21 MR. SNYDER: You see in other words, you
22 know, there's some that work whenever the power's out,
23 just like they had over there.

24 MR. VAN NESS: Well, what they had over
25 there is they had many means of supplying the same

1 pump, you know what I'm saying? Okay. When the
2 electrical generators went down, then they weren't
3 able to supply it, because they only had one delivery
4 system of supplying water to the reactor.

5 MR. SNYDER: They didn't just have one.
6 They had many ways.

7 MR. VAN NESS: Oh really?

8 MR. SNYDER: Oh yeah. They had many ways.
9 It's just that, yeah. They, yeah. A lot of ways
10 were impacted. In fact, they were, you know, for the 11 first few hours after that tsunami hit and the 12 earthquake, I mean they were doing just fine for a
13 while, and it was a national emergency, and the fact
14 that their infrastructure was so impacted, and then
15 the fact that I guess -- I mean there's many 16 different factors. I don't want to speculate on other
17 things that might happen over there.

18 MR. VAN NESS: Right. I just wanted to be 19 comfortable.

20 MR. SNYDER: I mean I can assure you, that
21 there were many ways, you know, many, many ways. So
22 there's not just one way.

23 MR. VAN NESS: Yes. Well, I understand
24 that. But however, okay, there could be a means that 25 works mechanically, in order to -- so you have no

1 energy supplying to put water in. Like you could have
2 a reservoir with a weight on top of a (inaudible) with
3 explosive charges, that releases the weight and will
4 force the water into the reactor. I mean there's many 5 different ways.

6 I'm just making sure that Oyster Creek,
7 which is right nearby, has such ways besides only
8 relying on pumps. You understand what I'm saying,
9 right?

10 MR. SNYDER: Yeah, I'm understanding. If
11 you have a concern, I can transfer you to the Region I
12 office, and ask for their Enforcement Branch.

13 MR. VAN NESS: Okay, that would be great.

1 MR. SNYDER: I don't know whether the
2 tanks were below ground, but yes, they weren't backup
3 tanks.

4 MALE PARTICIPANT: They did?

5 MR. SNYDER: Oh yeah, yeah, definitely.

6 MALE PARTICIPANT: Well, because the news
7 reporter said that their fuel supply was above ground
8 when the tsunami hit and took it away, and that's one
9 of the reasons they won't be able to recharge their 10 generators.

11 MR. SNYDER: I don't know why they would 12 have said that.

13 MALE PARTICIPANT: Oh, well that's what
14 the news said. They said that their fuel supply was 15 --

16 MR. SNYDER: Well, the news has been 17 saying lots of things that aren't true.

18 MALE PARTICIPANT: I know. That's why I'm
19 calling. So if they had fuel for their generators,
20 for their pump systems.

21 MR. SNYDER: I'll tell you what. I don't
22 know every detail over there. It would probably be 23 wrong of me to speculate. I did know the answer to 24 that first question, but I don't know exactly what the 25 configuration was. I don't. If you have a concern,

1 sir, you know, we've set up an email address and we're
2 answering emails, and that email address is
3 opa.resource at nrc.gov.

4 MALE PARTICIPANT: Okay, listen. I want
5 to thank you very much, because I was wondering why
6 you couldn't tap into the existing line with a saddle,
7 and then supply the generator that could be restarted
8 to get the tooling working again. That was my 9 reasoning for it if they had a problem with it.

10 MR. SNYDER: There's a pretty big natural
11 catastrophe over there.

12 MALE PARTICIPANT: Oh, I know it is. I've 13 seen the things on it. I'm not saying it isn't. I
14 was just talking about getting the generators back
15 started again for the cooling, that's all, and since
16 they mentioned that the diesel fuel was still stored
17 up above ground, and tanks were taken out with the 18 tsunami, which I couldn't understand why they weren't
19 --

20 MR. SNYDER: Now as far as them being
21 above or below ground, I don't know. I mean I thought
22 you originally said there were no backup storage
23 tanks, and that was untrue. I know there were backup
24 storage tanks.

25 MALE PARTICIPANT: Well, no no. I didn't

NEAL R. GROSS

1 say anything about the backups. I'm just talking
2 about they said that their storage tanks for their
3 fuel was above ground, where we put ours below ground,
4 and that they had no way to start up their generators,
5 because the fuel storage was above ground.

6 So that means okay, fine. But you know,
7 with the check valves that they have on those things,
8 they didn't have those tanks right next to the towers
9 anyway. You've got several hundred feet of line to be 10 able to dig down into it, access the line with a
11 standard saddle, you know, and bring in tankers filled
12 with diesel fuel, to start supplying the damn
13 generators, so they could start the cooling towers
14 again.

15 MR. SNYDER: Yeah. I mean it sounds like
16 a good way to do it to me, but I mean --

17 MALE PARTICIPANT: That's what I was going
18 to ask them, because I don't have the plans in front
19 of me. But I know --

20 MR. SNYDER: I mean I don't either. But I
21 mean we got to figure that those guys over there are 22 pretty smart, you know.

23 MALE PARTICIPANT: Oh no, no, no. You
24 know how many committee meetings I've been to, where 25 if they would have listened to the subordinates, they

1 wouldn't have had the problems in the first place?

2 MR. SNYDER: I don't know.

3 MALE PARTICIPANT: Yeah, trust me. There
4 are a lot of -- just because they're elected
5 officials or they're so-called experts, it's amazing
6 what they don't really think about, you know. Anyway,
7 I just thought I would mention. If I had the plans in 8 front of me, I could look at it and tell you how to 9 fix it, since they don't have any -- that's their 10 problem. They can't start their generators because 11 they've lost all their fuel supply.

12 So anyway, I just was going to call that
13 in and have you guys pass it on to them, because I
14 don't have the plans, the floor plans or the elevation
15 plans in front of me. I'd be able to tell you exactly
16 what to do, because you know, in that area they're 17 showing a lot of destruction. But the pipes are still 18 there underground.

19 Anyway, I just thought I'd mention it,
20 because I don't know. To me, it just seemed like a
21 logical course. I'm a product of public education, so
22 I'm not too smart. But if I could figure that out,
23 you would think these smart people would be able to.
24 And by the way, I don't have as much -- I don't have 25 as much faith in them as you do, because I never

1 figure -- if you don't know how to fix it in the first
2 place, why did it ever happen kind of attitude, okay?

3 Listen, thank you very much for your
4 patience and time. But if you feel that maybe you
5 could pass that on, to ask them about, you know,
6 bringing in some tankers with diesel fuel, to supply
7 the line into the generators. Maybe someone might say
8 hey, you know, that's a good idea. We could just do
9 that, now that the tsunami has receded, you know, that 10 we can get in there now. Anyway, I just thought I'd 11 call.

1 used to work at Nevada test site and did some
2 construction out at the Yucca Mountain facility, and a
3 friend and I were talking about how they could prevent 4 something like this from happening down the road, if
5 they ever did have another serious situation like
6 this.

7 MR. SNYDER: Uh-huh.

8 MALE PARTICIPANT: And it was basically
9 just to -- basically what they're doing with the spent
10 fuel rods is they're putting them underground, because 11 that's the safest place to store nuclear waste. So
12 when they build new reactors, we discussed this years
13 ago, but it never really came to fruition, is building
14 a 150, 200 foot deep concrete pit underneath the 15 reactors, and lining it with lead.

16 If the reactor did go into meltdown or 17 fail, they could release locking clamps, hydraulic
18 locking clamps, and drop the reactor into a pit, and 19 blow explosive charges and fill it full of dirt, and 20 cover the thing under a couple of hundred feet of 21 dirt.

22 MR. SNYDER: Yeah. I mean that's 23 something that those design guys -- I mean they come
24 up with a lot of good things like that. So you know,
25 something, somebody like Westinghouse or GE Hitachi or

1 whoever's manufacturing plants these days. But there
2 haven't been many new plants in the U.S. built here.
3 So but --

4 MALE PARTICIPANT: We've never seen anyone
5 come up with anything like that, you know. Either
6 they'll --

7 MR. SNYDER: Oh, they have lots of --

8 MALE PARTICIPANT: To mount them on 9 concrete slabs.

10 MR. SNYDER: Yeah, right, right. I mean
11 they're underground in concrete. You're right, so but 12 they are in concrete vessels and they're underground.
13 Usually most, most all reactor vessels are definitely
14 pretty far underground.

15 MALE PARTICIPANT: But if the reactor
16 fails, there's no way to bury the thing. If they had 17 a pit dug underneath the reactor itself, that went
18 down a couple hundred feet, it would sit on a platform
19 with release clamps, like the hydraulic release
20 clamps. If the thing started to fail, they could blow
21 the clamps. The thing would fall deep into the 22 ground, and they could just blow explosive charges and 23 cover it with dirt.

24 MR. SNYDER: Okay. You know, why don't

MR. MITMAN: Yes. My name is Jeff Mitman (ph) with the NRC. I just received a phone call from you.

MR. SNYDER: You know what sir? Jeff, what's your last name?

MR. MITMAN: Mitman, M-I-T-M-A-N.

MR. SNYDER: M-I-T-M-A-N. Okay. Any call from the Operations Center shows our number at 301-816-5100, and we have about, you know, close to 100 people in here right now. So there may not be any way to trace exactly who called you. Do you think it was a staffing request?

MR. MITMAN: It may be.

MR. SNYDER: Okay. I will transfer you to our admin staff here. Jeff Mitman.

MR. MITMAN: Yes. M-I-T-M-A-N.

MR. SNYDER: Okay, sir. Let me just make sure that no one in here called you. Hold on, please.

1 sir.

2 (Phone ringing.)

3 MR. SNYDER: NRC Operations Center. This
4 is a recorded line. Can I help you?

5 DR. CASE: Hi, yes. This is Dr. Case.
6 Jack McFadden on your Safety line gave me your number
7 directly, told me to call you with my idea. I'm a
8 physician, an anesthesiologist, and I had an idea
9 concerning what's going on in Japan, and that was to 10 take boron, if you can pelletize it, put it in 11 concrete and try pouring that into the reactor vessel,
12 to try to moderate the neutrons, to slow down the 13 reaction.

14 I know it's kind of an off the wall thing
15 for a doc to think that he has an idea like this, but 16 I was thinking what the hell, just give it a shot. I
17 don't know how heavy boron is. I would think, given
18 where it is in the Periodic Table, it's not light.
19 But I would think that it might be possible to 20 pelletize it, and then suspend it in something else.

21 I know the temperatures are enormous
22 there. They're saying 1,000 degrees Celsius. But I
23 was thinking if it could be suspended in something
24 like concrete, even if the concrete was eventually
25 vaporized, it might distribute the boron pellets over

1 the whole length of the rods, and then moderate the 2 reaction and start to cool it off.

3 So that was an idea I had, and I just
4 didn't want to sit on it, given the extremes that they
5 had over there.

6 MR. SNYDER: All right, sir. We
7 appreciate that. Would you mind sending your idea to 8 an email resource that we have set up to handle those.

9 DR. CASE: Yep, yep.

10 MR. SNYDER: It's OPA.

11 DR. CASE: Wait a minute. So that's 12 Omega?

13 MR. SNYDER: Or Oscar. Oscar-Poppa-Alpha
14 dot Romeo-Echo-Sierra-Oscar-Uniform-Romeo --

15 DR. CASE: Okay, wait a minute. That was 16 OPFA.Romeo --

17 MR. SNYDER: No. It's just OPA, one
18 single P.

19 DR. CASE: Yeah.

20 MR. SNYDER: So dot resource, the word
21 resource, at nrc.G-O-V.

22 DR. CASE: All right. So I have

1 MR. SNYDER: Okay.

2 DR. CASE: I can only be wrong. It just
3 occurred to me. When I was young -- I'm an
4 anesthesiologist, and I was an Applied Mathematics
5 major and Physical Chemistry minor, and there are not
6 too many people that have background.

7 So I was just thinking well geez, if they
8 could moderate this thing the way they did on those 9 ship reactors with boron rods, if they could get the 10 boron in there, maybe that would work, because they 11 can't hold the saline. They're trying to put it in,
12 and it's just running out some crack or whatever, or 13 turning into hydrogen and exploding.

14 You wouldn't have explosive risk with 15 this. That wouldn't be the issue. It would be could 16 you get enough boron in there. Would there be a
17 density of it that's high enough to absorb enough
18 neutrons to close the thing down.

19 Well, if you could put it in some sort of 20 suspension, where it's easily distributed, and because
21 these rods may be partially, you know, melted, and you
22 distribute it evenly over the whole mass, maybe you
23 could get some temperature control. That's what I
24 understand.

25 MR. SNYDER: All right, sir. Appreciate

5 MALE PARTICIPANT: Yes sir. I'm just
6 asking an academic question. I'm not no terrorist or
7 anything like the last person I talked to on your line
8 thought I was.

9 I'm just a person just asking, how much
10 nuclear radiation, or how much will it kill somebody?

11 I'm looking at this thing on the news, with the 12 reactors over there in Japan, and now the radiation is 13 starting to escape some from those containment, them
14 containment buildings.

15 I just want to know what level of 16 radiation kills a person. I'm not no terrorist or 17 nothing, okay?

18 MR. SNYDER: Yeah, yeah. No, I'm just
19 thinking. Most people around 500 rads or 500 rem, if 20 you know what that is; that's what -- that could be a 21 lethal dose. I mean now sometimes under that can be,
22 you know, but usually if you receive like 250 rem or
23 rad or above that, there would be some kind of blood
24 changes, blood disorders.

25 But usually you can have, you know,

NEAL R. GROSS

1 transfusions or -- because I mean some people can take
2 that dose and it doesn't do that.

3 MALE PARTICIPANT: Right.

4 MR. SNYDER: So it just kind of depends.
5 But a lethal dose is somewhere around there, so okay.

6 MALE PARTICIPANT: Around about five?

7 MR. SNYDER: About 500 R, yes.

8 MALE PARTICIPANT: And a lot of it has to
9 do with the person, their make-up, their metabolism,
10 who they are.

11 MR. SNYDER: Right, how big or small they 12 are.

13 MALE PARTICIPANT: How big or small they
14 are? Yes, because that -- yeah, those containment,
15 them --

16 MR. SNYDER: Because really, it's
17 radiation, you know. Like we get radiation from the 18 sun everyday, you know, when we go outside and stuff
19 like that.

20 MALE PARTICIPANT: It's the same. You
21 mean to tell me that nuclear radiation is the same as 22 going outside?

23 MR. SNYDER: Radiation is energy, you
24 know. So that's what it is. I mean it's energy like
25 transmitted in different ways. Some of it, you know,

NEAL R. GROSS

1 there's, you know, alpha radiation, beta, gamma.

2 MALE PARTICIPANT: Alpha, gamma.

3 MR. SNYDER: Alpha's big particles, you
4 know. Those can never penetrate your skin.

5 MALE PARTICIPANT: But the gamma can.

6 MR. SNYDER: But if you swallow it, it can
7 hurt you inside. That's Alpha.

8 MALE PARTICIPANT: Okay.

9 MR. SNYDER: Okay Beta, from like
10 clothing, anything, some coating, will shield you from 11 Beta. That's no threat. Gamma now, that's like X-
12 rays, very penetrating.

13 MALE PARTICIPANT: Yeah. That will
14 penetrate anything.

15 MR. SNYDER: That will penetrate, yes.
16 But that's the same kind of radiation you get if you
17 go get an X-ray, like a dental X-ray or an X-ray in a
18 hospital, or an MRI.

19 MALE PARTICIPANT: When I go there and ask
20 them that, and they tell me that the radiation is so
21 minute, that it won't, that it doesn't affect you.
22 But it can over a period of time.

23 MR. SNYDER: Oh, it can, especially like
24 medical. Medical X-rays, you might be surprised. I
25 mean there's actually quite a lot of dose there, and

NEAL R. GROSS

1 it's concentrated.

2 MALE PARTICIPANT: I know, I know.

3 MR. SNYDER: But the thing is, why they
4 tell you it won't hurt you, is usually you only have,
5 you know, a few of those a year.

6 MALE PARTICIPANT: Right.

7 MR. SNYDER: You know, so usually, and
8 that's very, very safe then. But like I'm saying, and 9 gee, I mean you'd have to have an awful lot of those
10 in a year to actually add up to, you know, anything
11 that's really life-threatening or can actually hurt
12 you.

13 MALE PARTICIPANT: Okay. Like you said,
14 at the start of your conversation, you said like 500
15 rads or 500 --

16 MR. SNYDER: Right, rem. That's an upper
17 (inaudible). I mean other people might, you know. I
18 mean that's the generally accepted number, you know,
19 about 500 rads, 500 rems.

20 MALE PARTICIPANT: Okay. I'm going to let
21 you go. I know you want to go to lunch.

22 MR. SNYDER: Yes.

23 MALE PARTICIPANT: Wait a minute, wait a

1 radiation is escaping from those nuclear power plants,
2 okay, is that dangerous for them over there?

3 MR. SNYDER: The people that are within so
4 many miles of the actual sites, I mean, they evacuate
5 them usually because that's where like airborne
6 particulate that's carried from fuel elements --

7 MALE PARTICIPANT: From the scene.

8 MR. SNYDER: --would settle out, right.
9 Now as far as an actual dose even, usually nobody --
10 now I mean it can't be said for sure. I mean I don't 11 know the exact condition of everything going on over 12 there today for sure, you know. But the thing is, the 13 news doesn't either.

14 MALE PARTICIPANT: It doesn't know. I
15 don't -- that's why I'm calling you. I don't trust
16 the media.

17 MR. SNYDER: But the thing is usually,
18 even with everything we've been hearing, you could be
19 at the boundary of those sites over there right now.
20 They've got workers there and everything like that,
21 and they're not receiving anywhere near the lethal
22 dose. I mean they could work over there for days and 23 everything like that.

24 MALE PARTICIPANT: It won't affect them.

25 MR. SNYDER: Nothing like that. But over

1 top of one of these buildings that opened up, you
2 know, something. If there was a release there, that
3 could be worse for them, yes.

4 MALE PARTICIPANT: Yeah, dangerous. Okay.

5 I know you -- wait a minute. Will that affect the 6 environment for years?

7 MR. SNYDER: Well, the thing is usually
8 no. I mean none of it usually ever does, except if
9 the fuel is damaged, you know. If the fuel is damaged
10 like a meltdown and the containment's damaged --

11 MALE PARTICIPANT: And the pellets inside
12 the rods.

13 MR. SNYDER: Yes, the pellets inside the 14 rods is the stuff that has long-lived radioisotopes,
15 like cesium-137 and strontium-90.

16 MALE PARTICIPANT: I was about to say
17 strontium-90.

18 MR. SNYDER: Things like that. Strontium-
19 90 is one of the things that gets into your bones, and 20 it will stay with you.

21 MALE PARTICIPANT: Right, I was going to
22 say that.

23 MR. SNYDER: So those are the things that
24 can be dangerous. But usually those don't escape,
25 because usually the containment for the -- and there's

1 many boundaries. You know, the fuel itself is a
2 boundary. If the fuel doesn't melt, then everything's
3 fine. Then the system it's in is a boundary, like
4 it's in a pot and it's a sealed system. That's 5 another boundary, if that stays intact.

6 MALE PARTICIPANT: It's sealed in --

7 MR. SNYDER: Like a big -- yeah right. A
8 big steel pot, you know. It's inside there, and 9 that's another boundary. So even if the fuel would 10 melt inside there, it would still be all right.

11 MALE PARTICIPANT: It would still be all
12 right.

13 MR. SNYDER: And then even if those two
14 boundaries fail and the containment holds up, then
15 you're still all right.

16 MALE PARTICIPANT: Okay.

17 MR. SNYDER: So there's three effective
18 boundaries there. So all three of them would have to 19 go, and --

20 MALE PARTICIPANT: Yes, so because
21 everybody's panicking, you know. They're looking at 22 this thing and oh my goodness, you know, this is going
23 to be a problem. But if you don't have -- if you're

MS. VIRGILIO: Yes, hi. This is Rosetta Virgilio in State Liaison. I wanted to put up a government link, if I could, for phone calls.

MR. KNOKE: You want a bridge?

MS. VIRGILIO: Yes.

MR. KNOKE: For how many people?

MS. VIRGILIO: It's only going to be three people, you think?

FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Three people. It's going to be small.

MR. KNOKE: Okay, and when is it?

MS. VIRGILIO: We want to do this in --

MALE PARTICIPANT: Trying to get ahold of her right now.

MS. VIRGILIO: Oh, hold on. I hate to ask you to hold a sec, but certainly answer the phone if you need to.

MR. KNOKE: Do you want me to put you up on a bridge, and then you can have the other people

But what I'm looking for, unclassified, is there -- with the situation in Japan, is there some sort of a place that industry can go look for information, unclassified, that would say hey, here's where you don't want to put your ships. The idea being I think we're looking at it if, for example, if a ship were to go there, get contaminated and then come back to the United States. So it's more like hey, informational for industry.

MR. KNOKE: NRC Ops Center recorded line.

How may I help you?

FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Yes. I'm calling from Massachusetts, and I've been an environmental activist for 40 years. In the late 70's and 80's, I worked at the Union of Concerned Scientists and also then for Public Citizen. I'm calling to say that we should not build any new nuclear power plants, and that the more than 20 nuclear power plants now in existence which were built by GE, they should not be extended. They should be phased out and money should just go, taxpayer money for clean, new, safe renewable energy, and something which is not in the public domain.

But the World Health Organization stated that the United States has the highest cancer rate globally, and every nuclear power plant in their normal operation emits low level radiation, and near every nuclear power plant, there's a higher rate of cancer and birth defects, which is not told to the public because it's bad for business. But it's true.

MR. KNOKE: NRC Operations Center recorded line. How may I help you?

MR. KEITH: Hello there. Rob Keith with 10th Commander, United States Coast Guard Headquarters, Washington, D.C. How are you doing today?

MR. KNOKE: Pretty good.

MR. KEITH: Hey, I know you guys are real busy with the Japanese issue and what-not. I wanted to go ahead and actually follow up with you folks. I got ahold of the nuclear incident team over there at DOE. I was placed on a BANG list by Dean Kratzenberg (ph), and then I know that NOAA's doing some stuff.

But I wanted to make sure that I was reaching out to all the right folks, in regards to any information that is finally released by the principals at the White House, unclassified, that we can go ahead and share with the Maritime community, to help keep them safe in and around Japan.

MR. KNOKE: Okay, and what department were you?

MR. KEITH: U.S. Coast Guard.

MR. KNOKE: Okay, and you said you -- did

1 you speak to Rick Casselberg?

2 MR. KEITH: Well Dean, Dean Kratzenberg.
3 I spoke with Dean over at Med Ops, and I'm on his BANG
4 list. But I wondered if you guys would have any other
5 information that they would not have.

6 MR. KNOKE: Well, all the information that 7 we have we'll either put out in a public notice or 8 internal. But we're not just sending stuff out to the 9 public right now.

10 MR. KEITH: No, understood.

11 MR. KNOKE: I can give you our Public
12 Affairs office. Maybe they have an update for you.

13 MR. KEITH: I'll certainly go ahead and
14 talk with him, but I'm linked in with Med Ops, and I
15 know that nothing's been released yet. So usually 16 Public Affairs is like one step behind what's actually 17 going on in real life ops.

18 MR. KNOKE: Okay. Well, there's nothing I
19 can give you right now. I'm sorry.

20 MR. KEITH: Okay. So I guess my question
21 to you sir is is there any information that's 22 unclassified, that's being shared, that Med Ops would 23 not have?

24 MR. KNOKE: No. You have everything we

How may I help you?

LINDA: Hi John, it's Linda in Region IV.

How are you?

MR. KNOKE: Good.

LINDA: Good. Hey, I wanted to circle back to you guys. I was just talking with Chuck Kane (ph), who is our duty officer this week, and he didn't -- despite my persistent warnings to let me know when the conference calls for the Japan incident follow-up are changed from their normal schedule, I didn't get that word this morning.

So I had a regional administrator that was not understanding why he didn't get told. Is there any way to put me on that notification circle, so that I get notified directly when those calls are changed, or have you guys been given instructions that this goes through duty officers?

MR. KNOKE: Well, we were told not to do the Region IV duty officer because --

LINDA: Well, they have been doing the Region IV duty officer.

MR. KNOKE: And I was told this morning

1 not to do it, because you guys are already close to
2 the loop, and he wouldn't tell you anything new. So
3 we just had information go out that Commissioners
4 assistants briefing is at eight in the morning and
5 eight at night. That's a new schedule.

6 LINDA: Oh, that's the new schedule? So
7 it's 8:00 a.m. Eastern and 8:00 p.m. Eastern?

8 MR. KNOKE: That's correct.

9 LINDA: Okay. Could you insert my name in 10 the notification list in lieu of our duty officer,
11 John?

12 MR. KNOKE: No. Because this is a
13 standard ANS call out list.

14 LINDA: Then does that mean that you've
15 removed notification for Region IV altogether?

16 MR. KNOKE: We just checked the box, and 17 we were told not to notify Region IV duty officer on 18 the callout, because --

19 LINDA: But in effect, John, if you're
20 unwilling to add me to the list, then that means that
21 you would quit notifying Region IV altogether.

22 MR. KNOKE: Well, I was told to do that.
23 As to the notification for the eight o'clock tonight,
24 I'll check Region IV, and we'll include them.

MR. KNOKE: NRC Operations Center recorded line. How may I help you?

MS. CARVER: Hi. Thank you for taking my call. This is Calissa Carver from the big island of Hawaii. We are calling today to find out about if the cloud has hit the jet stream, and if and when and how long will it take before it hits Hawaii, because we are the front line of the United States.

I have small children and I'm part of mothers groups. I'm keeping other mothers abreast of the situation.

MR. KNOKE: Okay. I will connect you to our International Liaison. They should help you.

MS. CARVER: Oh, thank you.

MR. KNOKE: NRC Operations Center recorded line. How may I help you?

MS. TAYLOR: Hi. My name is Connie Taylor. I live in Massachusetts, and I just wanted to get some, just some basic information. My husband is a pilot for American and he's based out of JFK, flies to -- he's flying to Haneda, Japan tomorrow. He just got back from a trip a few days ago, but he's considering taking our son with him, you know, just for pleasure. My son's 18.

You know, we've done a little research on learning about microsieveverts and so forth, and what the levels are in Tokyo, and would you advise against unnecessary travel to Tokyo right now, because of what's happening with the nuclear reactors?

MALE PARTICIPANT: As far as the flight itself goes, the FAA has been coordinating fairly heavily, and they will be able to give your husband some idea of which way to fly. You said he's a pilot?

MS. TAYLOR: Yes. My concern is this, yeah. I mean, yeah. American will make the call, I'm sure, and the FAA, as far as whether or not they're even going tomorrow. They're still slated to go. He

1 flies from JFK to Haneda. But he wants to take my
2 son, and we're just we're unsure because of what's
3 going on with the radiation levels. They seem, you
4 know, at a minimum and in Tokyo, we understand they're 5 like, it's 23 times higher than normal.

6 Well, that's not even one microsievert,
7 you know, and we understand a little bit about that.
8 Would you, are you in a position to give me any, just 9 your opinion on if it's not necessary to travel, you
10 know, for my son, would it be best not to go?

11 MR. KNOKE: Well, I'm not in that
12 position, but I can maybe transfer you to our Liaison
13 Team. They might be able to answer your question.

14 MS. TAYLOR: Yeah. Have you had many
15 calls like this, people that are considering traveling
16 to Japan or -- no? Okay. Well, I'd love to talk to 17 somebody just for a minute, you know. I know they're 18 -- who knows which way this is going to go over there,
19 you know. It's very unpredictable.

20 But just trying to make a decision here on 21 whether or not our son should go. If somebody's
22 available, that would be great.

MR. KNOKE: NRC Operations Center recorded line. How may I help you?

MALE PARTICIPANT: Yes. I just had a quick input, and wondered if it had been considered regarding the problem in Japan right now with the reactors. I'm a retired Air Force pilot, and I wondered if they had considered using firefighting aerial delivery of water into the cooling towers, and just thinking that would give minimum exposure to crews, and they could get lots of cool water onto the fuel rods, before they're exposed.

MR. KNOKE: Well, the fuel rods are encased in a reactor vessel, and then that's encased in about three feet of concrete. So there's nothing from the outside that could get into it from the air.

MALE PARTICIPANT: Okay. Well, I was under the impression they had said on CNN or whatever that there were exposed fuel rods that were partially used or whatever, and were in danger of being exposed, and were being stored above the main center of the reactor.

MR. KNOKE: Okay. They're talking about the spent fuel rods. But I believe that presently,

1 pressure head problem or a shutoff valve problem on
2 that.

3 MALE PARTICIPANT: Oh, okay. I'm just
4 trying to help.

5 MR. KNOKE: No problem, thank you.

6 MALE PARTICIPANT: Yes sir.

MR. KNOKE: NRC Operations Center recorded line. How may I help you?

FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Can you put a fallout map on your website, you know, where we can see it?

MR. KNOKE: Can we put a map on our website?

FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Yes, of the fallout that you're expecting from Japan. Is there one out there? I really can't find it. People have been asking for days.

MR. KNOKE: Uh-huh. Well, let me see what our Public Affairs can say about this. Maybe they have some ideas.

FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Thanks.

MR. KNOKE: Okay, transferring.

FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Are you going to call me or --

MR. KNOKE: No, I'll transfer you over there.

FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Oh, okay, thanks.

MR. KNOKE: No, I'll transfer you over there.

FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Okay, thanks.

2 OPERATOR: The user at this extension is
3 out of the office. This is the U.S. Nuclear
4 Regulatory --

5 MR. KNOKE: Apparently, they're out of the 6 office right now.

7 FEMALE PARTICIPANT: They're out of the 8 office right now. Oh, come on. We've been trying to 9 get information off of this website for days, and
10 people have been asking for days, what are the fallout
11 maps? Who knows this stuff?

12 MR. KNOKE: Well, the fallout map for the 13 United States?

14 FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Yes.

15 MR. KNOKE: There will be no fallout for 16 the United States.

17 FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Well then they should
18 say that.

19 MR. KNOKE: Well, right now, it's pretty 20 safe to say that the United States is not going to be 21 receiving any effects of the Japanese events going on.

22 FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Do you believe that?

23 MR. KNOKE: Yes, uh-huh.

24 FEMALE PARTICIPANT: And also Hawaii is 25 asking.

1 MR. KNOKE: Hawaii, the same thing. We do
2 not believe that Hawaii will be impacted either.

3 FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Alaska.

4 MR. KNOKE: Alaska also.

5 FEMALE PARTICIPANT: You really should
6 tell people. You really should. That's wrong.
7 Thanks.

8 MR. KNOKE: Well, I will pass that
9 information along, that they should provide
10 information to the public better.

11 FEMALE PARTICIPANT: That's a wonderful
12 idea.

13 MR. KNOKE: Thank you.

14 FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Because I don't think
15 they're on our side. I'm starting to think they're 16 not.

17 MR. KNOKE: Okay. I will tell them that 18 too.

19 FEMALE PARTICIPANT: Thanks, bye.

20 MR. KNOKE: Okay, bye.
