COMMENTS: Although we have concerns, we support this project. As mentioned in the letter provided to our office, reconnaissance measures should be pursued with care and awareness as to the presence of unknown and documented sites as well. Our primary concern is that of the confidentiality of site location. As we have seen in the past, looters are unaware of sites and the artifacts and remains they contain until after projects such as this have been conducted. We ask that all team members of this project keep any site information they may inadvertently discover as confidential and only inform those who are necessary to document as to their existence.

We look forward to receiving further communications and information as it becomes available.

Sincerely,

Dana Masters
