Mr. Reed,

The December 18th and 19th public meetings on the generic tabletop exercises for managing the cumulative impact from regulatory actions yielded a number of insights, including changes to the process management flowchart that was discussed in the November 2013 meetings. The attached flowchart incorporates the insights and suggestions from those meetings and an updated flowchart forwarded for your information and to further facilitate the public interactions on cumulative impact.

The industry looks forward to continuing the constructive discussions. If you or the NRC working group on cumulative impact has any questions or additional comments please contact me.

Sincerely,

Adrian Heymer
