Dear Nuclear Regulatory Commission:

Waste Confidence DEIS: docket NRC-2012-0246

The largest concentration of radioactivity on the planet, nuclear waste, is stored at nuclear power plants near populated towns and cities across America. After more than 50 years, the quest for safe, permanent nuclear waste disposal remains incomplete; therefore it is irresponsible to keep producing more spent nuclear fuel.

Spent nuclear fuel older than five years should be stored in dry, hardened storage casks. I oppose transportation of nuclear waste to temporary storage sites because it is dangerous and puts citizens at risk for radiation exposure. As history has taught us, temporary plans for nuclear waste are not the answer. We must stop making nuclear waste. Keep the ban on licensing new nuclear plants!

Our future generations are depending on us.
