Mr. Smathers,

Under the FOIA, any person, regardless of citizenship can make a FOIA request, with the exception of fugitives from justice, foreign governments requesting information from intelligence agencies, federal agencies, and heads of congressional committees (for purposes of an investigation). The FOIA has in place nine exemptions that protect certain categories of information from being disclosed to the public. Meaning, if someone submitted a FOIA request for a nuclear power plants security system, the NRC is required by law to process the request and not question the reason why the information is being requested, BUT such information would be protected from disclosure under one of the FOIA exemptions. Also, a FOIA request must be for agency records that have been created or obtained by an agency, or in the control of an agency upon receipt of that request; and an agency is not required by law to create a record to satisfy a FOIA request. So, to finally answer the NRC has no records involving the reporting of suspicious requests to investigator or investigative agencies. Please let me know how you wish to proceed.

Even without a specific policy in place, wouldn't it be possible for a FOIA officer to report a requester to an investigator or investigative agency? I would withdraw my request if you are saying this has never happened. What would you do if my request looked like I was looking for information to help terrorists? I am looking only for the records where the record was not only suspicious, but an investigate agency or investigator was consulted or the request was forwarded to them.

Let me know.

As I indicated below, the NRC does not have a policy or procedure in place to track "suspicious" FOIA requests. Therefore, we would have a "no records" response to your request. Would you like to formally withdraw your request?

My intent was to limit the responsive records to those which are suspicious.

Good Morning Mr. Smathers,

The NRC is in receipt of a FOIA request, where you seek, among other things, "all FOIA requests, including corresponding internal and external communication, investigative records and any other resulting record where a FOIA request was sent to your agency." This portion of your request, as written, is "extremely" broad, as we interpret it to mean you want copies of "all" FOIA requests submitted to the NRC. Are you looking for "all" FOIA requests or, as you have detailed in your fee waiver justification, only FOIA requests deemed "suspicious?"

Please be aware, the NRC does not have a policy and/or procedures in place that address the handling or tracking of "suspicious" FOIA requests. All FOIA requests received by the NRC are processed in accordance with federal law and NRC regulations and procedures. (See <http://www.nrc.gov/reading-rm/foia/foia-privacy.html> for further information)

If you seek copies of "all" FOIA's, the scope of your request will have to be narrowed. Once a response is received the processing of your request will continue.

Thank-you,

Deborah A. Dennis

Dear Mr. Smathers,

In follow up to your status inquiry on the above-referenced case, I wanted to let you know that, of the three Program Offices that have been tasked, two have completed their search. Neither of those two offices had responsive records, so we will wait for the third Program Office to respond, and hopefully they will locate the current MOU/MOA's that you have requested. Please feel free to reach out to me directly if you have any further questions or concerns regarding this case as it progresses. Best regards,

Dear Mr. Smathers,

In follow up to my email below, the last program office has asked for a clarification regarding the scope of your request. Specifically, they have asked what the timeframe is for their search for the MOU/MOA's in question. If you could give a date range for the records being sought, that would help expedite the search significantly. Thank you very much, and please let me know if you need anything going forward.
