Dear Chief Bladley,

I am from Arizona, but my husband and I just spent three weeks exploring the great state of Florida. We had a wonderful time, but discovered that Florida is subject to some rather alarming affects of global warming, including the influx of salt water due to the rising seas.

Florida has beautiful natural resources that deserve protection.
Expanding this nuclear plant would endanger the precious coral reefs.
We went out to some of the reefs off Key Largo, and they are not doing well.

Please do not allow this project. It isn't good for Florida's environment.

Thank you for considering my request.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Kathleen Shipe
