Prepared a feasibility study assessing the international market for Tunisian herbal and medicinal plants and essential oils for the Arid Lands Institute in Médenine, Tunisia; USDA, Agricultural Research Service (ARS), Office of International Research Programs; and the International Centers for Agricultural Research in the Dry Areas (ICARDA) of Tunisia and Morocco.

Researched and analyzed European Union (EU) and US food safety, organic, and import regulations and made written recommendations to Tunisian herbal and medicinal plant producers, processors, and exporters on actions necessary meet EU and US standards.

Prepared an international marketing proposal to improve market information and develop innovative, cost-effective methods to market Tunisian aromatic and medicinal plants and essential oils in US, EU, and Middle East markets for ICARDA and USDA/ARS.

Results and Accomplishments:

Linked US cattle exporters with Moroccan cooperatives resulting in 5000 US cattle entering Morocco for calf-raising and feedlot operations in 2008.

Coordinated start-up phase of $US 2.8 million Moroccan dairy sector development project for Cooperative Resources International of Wisconsin and Coopérative Agricole de Taroudant, Morocco, incorporating environmentally protective designs.

Developed and implemented an international marketing strategy mobilizing government and industry stakeholders in the Tunisian aromatic and medicinal plants sector.

Collaborated with Tunisian producers, processors, exporters, plant scientists, and government officials to create a marketing strategy that preserves aromatic and medicinal plant habitat, ensures sustainable harvests, and prevents over-exploitation of wild / spontaneous aromatic and medical herbs.

Promoted public-private discussion on the lack of transparency and predictability in administrative and judicial procedures through conferences and workshops in Morocco.

Facilitated on the use of US government credit programs by Moroccan importers and US exporters; sponsored COBANK seminars for Moroccan importers on qualifying for and using the GSM-102 Export Credit Guarantee Program and Facilities Guarantee Program loans.

Program Director

Research and Analysis of Marketing / Regulatory Issues and Advice to Clients:

Established and directed a $690,000, five-year USDA project marketing US agricultural products and services in North Africa. Designed and implemented 75 marketing activities to reduce regulatory import barriers.

Researched and analyzed Moroccan animal and plant health regulations, import schedules, food safety rules, and biotechnology regulations (in French) with the goal of removing regulatory barriers to American agricultural exports.

Designed, implemented, and wrote market sector benchmark studies of the Moroccan livestock, horticultural, and poultry industries and developed strategies to open Morocco markets to American imports.

Organized visits to Morocco by APHIS negotiators and prepared briefing books for negotiators with translated Moroccan livestock regulations, citing the pertinent animal health codes restricting the importation of US exports, specifically restrictions concerning blue tongue, bovine leucosis virus, and brucellosis.

Designed, organized, and moderated technical seminars on American cattle breeds, poultry, and horticultural products for Moroccan agribusiness, researchers, and government officials to publicize the quality of American agricultural exports and generate internal demand for policy and regulatory changes in Morocco.

Results and Accomplishments:

AgLink marketing efforts resulted in $20 million in American new agricultural products and services entering North Africa.

Successfully facilitated an agreement on Moroccan animal health regulations and US animal health certificates, leading to the importation of 4000 American dairy heifers and approval of the American Brahman breed, ending 20 years of obstacles to US cattle imports.

Facilitated linkages leading to export of $ 3.84 million of wood pulp to Moroccan and Tunisian manufacturers of hygiene products. When changes to Moroccan import tariffs favoring European-origin wood pulp ended the import of American pulp, I raised the issue to US negotiators of the Morocco-US Free Trade Agreement.

Coordinated meetings between American table grape breeder and Moroccan government officials on plant variety patent infringement issues; infringement ended and the breeder negotiated 2 propagation licenses with Moroccan nurseries and 12 production licenses with Moroccan grape growers valued at $500,000.

Collaborative Projects:

Collaborated on marketing and management projects with Moroccan importers, cooperative leaders, Parliament members, veterinary and horticultural scientists, owners and managers of large-scale agricultural operations, and subsistence farmers.

Established and maintained collaborative relationships with US agricultural producers, breeders, exporters, USDA cooperators, animal and plant scientists in government agencies and universities, and state trade offices and departments of agriculture to increase US agricultural exports to North Africa.
