IN RESPONSE REFER TO
FOIA/PA 2015-0043A
(FOIA/PA 2015-0225)

Dear Mr. Tarver,

On behalf of the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC), I am responding to your letter dated, May 21, 2015 in which you appealed the agency's April 21, 2015, decision related to your April 3, 2015, Freedom of Information Act/Privacy Act (FOIA/PA) request (FOIA/PA 2015-0225). In the May 21, 2015, letter you appealed NRC's failure to locate any records responsive to your request.

You originally requested all records regarding undercover license plates, identification cards, or non-disclosure agreements involving the Washington State, Department of Licensing. The NRC failed to uncover any relevant documents. The NRC originally tasked four different program offices, including the Office of Enforcement, the Office of Investigations, the Office of the Inspector General, and the Regional Office (Region IV) that includes Washington State. These were all the locations that were determined where the agency would be reasonably likely to have responsive records, if they existed. All program offices independently came to the same conclusion that they did not have any records responsive to this request.

This is NRC's final decision. As set forth in the FOIA (5 U.S.C. 552(a)(4)(B)), judicial review of this decision is available in a district court in the United States in the district in which you reside or have your principal place of business. Judicial review can also be had in the district in which the agency's records are situated or in the District of Columbia.

The 2007 FOIA amendments created the Office of Government Information Services (OGIS) to offer mediation services to resolve disputes between FOIA requesters and Federal agencies as a non-exclusive alternative to litigation. Using OGIS services does not affect your right to pursue litigation.
