My grandchildren; they can't protect themselves by CAVING, like NRC COWARDS!

Catherine Quigg

Barrington, IL · Jun 17, 2015

Even low levels of radiation are cumulative and carcinogenic.

V.E. Perkins

The fetus is uniquely sensitive to radiation and cannot be "protected" by new NRC regulations. We have to stop generating power via nuclear reactors.

I'm on a Community Advisory Group to a Superfund site in Canon City, CO. There were numerous, numerous miscarriages due to radioactive plume. And babies born that were deformed and didn't live.

People who cheat, or fail to protect their children...are scum...and in general, they have no future. Nuclear radiation is anathema to all life, but children and the unborn are particularly vulnerable. Do the right thing.
