General Comment

The lack of scientific know-ledgeat low level radiation justifies that we need to perform scientific low level studies at the proposed Ultra-Low Level Radiation Biology Laboratory at WIPP,document the results and then compare this with the current LNT.

To randomly say every human averages 360 mRem exposure/annually is also an extrapolate value (best guess).

With radon comprising 55% of that value everyone should live in Louisiana.

thank you,

James J. Davis III
