Judge Michael M. Gibson,
c/o Nicholas Sciretta and Sachin Desai,
Atomic Safety and Licensing Board Panel
2015

28 August

Dear Judge Gibson,

Only recently has this issue come to my attention. I strongly believe that consideration needs to be made in these areas prior to your decision:

1. Who occupied the land first?
2. Are people who enjoy the liberties of the Constitution only those who are middle income and above?
3. Is the taking of reasonable living conditions allowable by law when they did exist to begin with?
4. When there is an abundance of press on an issue it may be significantly warranted to take heed.
5. Judges are not scientists, use the expertise at your personal disposal as well as that in testimony.
6. Manipulation of fact is inherent in testimony when it is to the financial benefit of those testifying.
7. He who has the money wins!! We like to think this is not true but when those defending with less are not as able to get the facts forward due to lack of funds to do so, often it is the case.

Appreciatively,
