RE: Danaher Separation

To Whom It May Concern:

As announced by our ultimate parent company, Danaher Corporation (NYSE: DHR), Danaher intends to separate into two, independent publicly traded companies (see attached). The purpose of this letter is to notify you that Fluke Electronics Corporation is being transferred to the new entity, Fortive Corporation. This transfer is expected to be consummated in the second half of 2016. For more information about Fortive, please see www.fortive.com.

This change-in-control will not impact our relationship with you in any way. Indeed, we are excited about being part of this dynamic, new US $6 billion company.

Best regards,

Fluke Electronics Corporation

Ben Jacqmotte
General Counsel and Assistant Secretary
