SUBJECT: MEETING SUMMARY REGARDING HONEYWELL
INTERNATIONAL'S LICENSE RENEWAL PRE-APPLICATION
STATUS NOVEMBER 1, 2016

On November 1, 2016, the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission staff and representatives of Honeywell International (Honeywell or the licensee) held a Category 1 meeting to discuss Honeywell Metropolis Works' upcoming license renewal and its pre-application activity status. Honeywell's current materials license is due to expire on May 11, 2017.

The meeting was divided into two sessions. The first session, which was used by Honeywell to discuss its pre-application status, was open to the public for observation. The second session of the meeting was closed to the public as specific information on Honeywell's Integrated Safety Analysis Summary, which contains security-related information, and a draft version of the proposed table of contents to the license renewal application (LRA) were discussed. The meeting was useful in understanding Honeywell's plans for the upcoming license renewal and the proposed contents of the LRA. No staff decision was made during the meeting.
