Dear Mr. Novak:

Subject: CORPORATE ORGANIZATIONAL CHANGES

Effective August 10, 1982, the Supply System management structure was realigned as shown in the attachment to this letter. We will submit modifications which reflect these recent organizational changes in future revisions to the FSARs for WNP-1, WNP-2 and WNP-3, and the Operational Quality Assurance Program Description.

The major changes in the organizational responsibilities relative to those described in the current revision of the Operational Quality Assurance Program Description are as follows:

- 1) The Director of Operations reports to the Managing Director and is responsible for safe and successful construction and operation of all Supply System nuclear facilities.
- 2) The Director, Support Services reports to the Managing Director and provides administrative, records management, security, health physics, chemistry, radiological protection, emergency preparedness, industrial safety, fire protection and technical training support services for Supply System plants.
- 3) The Director, Licensing and Assurance reports to the Managing Director and provides quality assurance programs, nuclear safety assurance programs and licensing support for Supply System plants.
