1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions, including sales, purchases, and expenses. It emphasizes the need for a systematic approach to record-keeping, such as using a ledger or accounting software, to ensure that all financial data is properly documented and organized.

2. The second part of the document focuses on the importance of regular reconciliation. This involves comparing the company's internal records with external statements, such as bank statements or supplier invoices, to identify any discrepancies or errors. Regular reconciliation helps to ensure the accuracy of the financial records and allows for the timely identification and correction of any mistakes.

3. The third part of the document discusses the importance of budgeting and financial planning. It highlights the need to establish a clear budget for the company's operations, which serves as a guide for managing resources and controlling costs. Financial planning also involves forecasting future financial performance and identifying potential risks or opportunities.

4. The fourth part of the document addresses the importance of transparency and communication in financial management. It stresses the need for clear communication between management and stakeholders, including investors, creditors, and employees, regarding the company's financial health and performance. Transparency helps to build trust and ensures that all parties are informed of the company's financial situation.

5. The fifth part of the document discusses the importance of regular financial reporting. It emphasizes the need to prepare and distribute financial statements, such as the balance sheet, income statement, and cash flow statement, on a regular basis. These reports provide a comprehensive overview of the company's financial performance and are essential for making informed decisions.

6. The sixth part of the document focuses on the importance of maintaining accurate tax records. It highlights the need to keep detailed records of all taxable transactions and to comply with applicable tax laws and regulations. Accurate tax records are crucial for calculating the company's tax liability and for filing tax returns.

7. The seventh part of the document discusses the importance of regular audits. It emphasizes the need to conduct internal audits to verify the accuracy of the financial records and to identify any areas of weakness or improvement. External audits by independent auditors can also provide valuable insights into the company's financial health and compliance with accounting standards.

8. The eighth part of the document addresses the importance of financial risk management. It highlights the need to identify and assess potential financial risks, such as currency fluctuations, interest rate changes, and credit defaults, and to implement strategies to mitigate these risks. Financial risk management helps to protect the company's assets and ensure its long-term financial stability.

9. The ninth part of the document discusses the importance of financial innovation and technology. It emphasizes the need to embrace new technologies, such as cloud accounting and artificial intelligence, to streamline financial processes and improve efficiency. Financial innovation can also help companies to identify new opportunities for growth and expansion.

10. The tenth part of the document focuses on the importance of financial literacy and education. It highlights the need for management and employees to have a basic understanding of financial principles and practices. Financial literacy helps to ensure that everyone in the organization is able to make informed financial decisions and contribute to the company's overall financial success.

Dear Ms. Adensam:

Subject: AMENDMENT TO FACILITY OPERATING LICENSE
NPF-21, WPPSS NUCLEAR PROJECT NO. 2

During their regular meeting of March 9, 1987, the Washington State Energy Facility Site Evaluation Council reviewed and adopted motions indicating that the Council has no comments on the following requests for amendments to NRC's Operating License for the Washington Public Power Supply System's Nuclear Plant No. 2.

Supply System Request Date	SUBJECT Request for Amendment to Technical Specifications For:
November 18, 1986	Wide Range Neutron Flux Monitor; Changes to Accident Monitoring Instrumentation (Table 3.3.7.5-1) and Accident Monitoring Surveillance Requirements (Table 4.3.7.5-1)
December 12, 1986	Snubbers; Changes to 3/4.7.4, Limiting Condition for Operation and Surveillance Requirements

The Council was notified of the proposed amendment requests by the Supply System in accordance with the notification requirements of 10 CFR 50.91.

We appreciate the opportunity to review the proposed license amendments.

Sincerely,

Curtis Eschels
Chairman
