Bernie,

I too had a problem opening the attachments to the e-mail I sent you below, but I had no problem opening them from my O: drive folder. Maybe the problem was an Outlook glitch. Anyway, I've attached the same documents from my O: drive for a second try. I was able to open each attachment before sending this e-mail. If you still can't open any one of them, let me know.

Bernie,

If you haven't already forwarded the draft concurrence package documents to John for his concurrence review, you can use the attached ones instead. They incorporate all of Carol's good but minor comments, which make no changes to the technical content.
