In the Matter of Long Island Lighting Company
(Shoreham Nuclear Power Station)
Docket No. 50-322

Dear Mr. Hand:

In an updated pleading postmarked August 2, 1978, Suffolk County (SC or County) sought to obtain two documents pertaining to General Electric's Reed Report. The two documents, which SC acknowledged had been determined by the NRC Staff to contain confidential commercial information, were a list of safety-related items discussed in the Reed Report and a summary status report of those items. The Applicant's August 17, 1978 reply stated that these documents would be made available to SC. The Applicant also provided a protective agreement for the County's counsel and technical consultant to sign indicating that they would treat the documents as proprietary and not disclose their content to anyone who had not signed the protective agreement.

SC's letter of September 19, 1978 indicated general satisfaction with the protective agreement and requested that it be expanded to include GE Topical Report NED-21021-P, entitled "Test Program for Collet Retainer Tube." My letter dated October 4, 1978, the Applicant agreed to make this topical report available to the County and forwarded the protective agreement with the appropriate revisions.

At a meeting on April 20, 1979, counsel for SC handed the protective agreement to counsel for the Applicant. The last page of the agreement had been revised to add a new paragraph (10) and had been signed by Messrs. Like, Hand and Goldsmith. The agreement was sent to GE for its signature. A copy of the signed protective agreement appears as Enclosure A.

Under the terms of the protective agreement, the following documents are transmitted to SC's counsel:

1. "List of Items for the Nuclear Reactor Study (Reed Report) Identified in 1975 by Safety and Licensing for Consideration as 'Reportable Deficiencies' under Section 206 of the Energy Reorganization Act of 1974," dated March 22, 1978 (Enclosure B).
2. "Summary of Status of Items from the Nuclear Reactor Study (Reed Report) Identified in 1975 by Safety and Licensing." (Enclosure C).
3. Topical Report NEDE-21021-P, "Test Program for Collet Retainer Tube," dated March 1976 (Enclosure D).

Yours truly,

F. Case Whittemore
