The aforementioned names are in regards to the same uranium processing/conversion facility in Metropolis, Illinois, 62960, as the plant went by various names at different times. Please release to me the records as they are processed by box rather than waiting until all 96 boxes have been processed to release the entire 96-box collection. | 10/11/2019 | | |
| NRC-2020-000015 | Request | Mr. Bobby Vaughn Jr. | | I am an investigative journalist requesting documentation pertaining to the former Allied Signal / Honeywell / Metropolis Works plant located in Metropolis, Illinois. --Brief Facility Description: The Metropolis Works, located near Metropolis, Illinois, converts natural U3O8 to UF6. The plant has no full-scale capacity to convert UF6 to uranium oxide. However, in 1997, DOE entered into an agreement with the owners of the Metropolis Works (then Allied Signal, Inc. and General Atomics) to fund 50% of the cost of a pilot plant as a demonstration of a proposed dry process (patented by General Atomics) for converting UF6 into U3O8 or UO2 and anhydrous hydrofluoric acid. The pilot plant was constructed at the Metropolis Works, and test runs were conducted with UF6 feed between early February and July 1998. The program was considered successful in that UF6 was successfully converted to uranium oxide, and anhydrous hydrofluoric acid was recovered and successfully recycled in the main conversion plant at the site. Upon completion of the program, the pilot plant was secured, emptied, flushed, cleaned, and otherwise mothballed. The capacity of the pilot plant, if it were operational, was estimated at 300 to 400 tons (U.S.) UF6/a | 10/11/2019 | | |
