James H. Chasmer - Chairman
U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission

Dear Sir:

I think the time has come for us to stop listening to the same people and the other individuals that are giving Nuclear Power Generation a bad name and take some positive steps toward making this country energy self-sufficient.
Nuclear Power is safe, inexpensive and very much needed.

Let us begin by returning TMI-1 and stop this stupid delay of getting of a perfectly good unit that has been modified and is different from TMI-2.

By keeping this unit closed it is costing Metropolitan Edison and its customers thousands of dollars a day needlessly, get it on the line.
Nuclear Power Generation is the only way we can be energy independent.

Sincerely,
R.H. Johnson
