Gentlemen:

DOCKET NOS. 50-266 AND 50-301
STEAM GENERATOR SLEEVING REPAIR REPORT, REVISION 1
POINT BEACH NUCLEAR PLANT, UNITS 1 AND 2

By letter dated March 11, 1982, Wisconsin Electric Power Company, Licensee for the Point Beach Nuclear Plant, Units 1 and 2, transmitted to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission the "Point Beach Steam Generator Sleaving Report, WCAP-9960, Revision 1 (Proprietary)", in support of Licensee's July 2, 1981 license amendment application for changes to the Technical Specifications which would permit repair of defective steam generator tubes by sleaving.

Enclosed are 20 copies of a reprint of the original document submitted on March 11, 1982. As explained in the March 19, 1982 letter to the Staff from counsel for Westinghouse Electric Corporation ("Westinghouse"), the material considered proprietary was marked incompletely in the original document. The enclosed reprint completely marks such information. In addition, the reprint corrects one typographical error in the original document; on page 6.32, at line 3 of Issue 2, the word "percent" in the original document has been corrected to "pounds" in the reprint. In all other respects, the reprint is identical to the original document.

Like the original document, the enclosed reprint contains certain information which is proprietary to Westinghouse. The proprietary information has been identified by brackets. In conformance with the requirements of 10 CFR Section 2.790 of the
