1. Intervenor's Brief in Support of Exceptions was served by mail on May 18, 1983 and received by Applicants on May 20, 1983. This brief addresses eighty-nine (89) exceptions, and involves matters of considerable complexity and importance to the Clinch River Breeder Reactor Plant (CRBRP) Project.

development of an adequate response. A recent death in his family has and will require a substantial and unanticipated commitment of his time to estate administration matters through July of this year.

3. During the period through July of this year, Applicants will be required to devote substantial efforts to a pending case in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia (NRDC v. Brewer, Civil No. 82-2706), and to preparation for commencement and completion of the CRBRP Construction Permit hearings. (Pursuant to the Licensing Board's Order of March 29, 1983, hearings will commence on July 18, 1983.)

4. The matters discussed above have resulted in a severe compression of the efforts of Applicants' counsel, and an extension of time is necessary for Applicants to develop an adequate response.

5. On April 4, 1983, the Appeal Board granted Intervenors' Motion for a thirty(30) day extension of time in which to file their brief. Applicants raised no objection to Intervenors' Motion at that time.

6. The undersigned believe that an extension of thirty days until July 22, 1983 will be sufficient to enable preparation of an adequate response.

7. Applicants have contacted counsel for the NRC Staff and were advised that the NRC Staff has no objection to this Motion. Applicants also contacted counsel for Intervenor and were advised that Intervenor has no objection to this Motion.

Accordingly, Applicants respectfully request a thirty-day (30-day) extension of time until July 22, 1983, in which to file a response to Intervenor's brief.

Respectfully submitted,
