Dear Ms. Doroshow:

Enclosed are Licensee's responses to TMIA's December 30, 1983 discovery request.

A number of the interrogatory answers incorporate documents or portions of documents. Those documents which do not contain proprietary information are enclosed herewith. Since TMIA has refused to agree not to disclose proprietary information, documents which contain such information (indicated on the document list by an asterisk) cannot be produced until you agree to provide assurance of the protection of the information by signing a proprietary agreement under the auspices of a protective order. Should TMIA decide it wants production of the proprietary documents, please return signed copies of the proprietary agreement I provided you prior to the conference call with the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board yesterday.

Licensee is willing and able to timely provide you with all of the documents, and any delay you experience in the receipt of the proprietary documents will be due entirely to TMIA's refusal to enter into a proprietary agreement.

Sincerely yours,

Bruce W. Churchill
