Wells Eddleman's Response to Summary Disposition
on Eddleman 132

As contention 132 is written, I have no available response to Applicants and Staff. But I didn't get a chance to complete my planned 2d round of discovery (the fall '83 was not a 2d round, it was 1st round to Staff per agreement with Staff counsel in May '83), and the RVLIS doesn't meet my concerns (as I stated on discovery to Applicants). While my analysis is still incomplete, having only 2 channels raises an obvious question: what if the two disagree? What useful info does RVLIS provide then? Staff responded (as usual) in the form of another motion for summary disposition, with no expediting. I would request the Board to make its oral order re Joint II and 37B permanent on the staff, i.e. that where their "response" to a motion for summary disposition is effectively another motion for summary disposition, they file it early (i.e. at or near the date for motions for summary disposition) so I can respond. Also, I note that my second set of interrogatories on Eddleman 65 is forthcoming (to Staff and Applicants) as I have previously advised attorney Baxter for Applicants. In agreeing to allow discovery to start early on certain contentions, I never have agreed to expedite my own work on contentions (e.g. 41, 65, 132) for the convenience of Applicants. WE
