ANSWER OF PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY
TO JOINT INTERVENORS' SUPPLEMENT TO MOTION TO AUGMENT OR, IN THE ALTERNATIVE, TO REOPEN THE RECORD

On April 6, 1984 Joint Intervenors filed a supplement to their motion to reopen or augment the record in the design quality assurance proceeding. PGandE continues to urge that the motion be denied.

The supplement to the Joint Intervenors' motion deals with the testimony and inspection report of NRC Inspector Isa Yin. To give the Appeal Board the opportunity to review all the information available on this subject, PGandE forwards the following materials. ^{1/}

1. PGandE letter No. DCL-84-046 dated February 7, 1984 and enclosure.

This document responds to Mr. Yin's statement of his concerns at a Staff/PGandE meeting on January 31, 1984.

^{1/} Copies to the Appeal Board only. The parties have already been served.

2. PGandE letter No. DCL-84-131 dated April 4, 1984 and enclosure.

This document responds directly to Mr. Yin's draft inspection report (Rev. 3) dated April 3, 1984.

3. Transcript of the PGandE/NRC Staff/ACRS meeting on April 6, 1984.

At this meeting Mr. Yin stated he no longer opposed fuel load/low power testing and he mentioned that certain work would have to be done prior to full power operation. (TR. 338-340.)

In short, Mr. Yin's concerns can be handled as a normal part of the Staff's regulatory review, and there is no need to reopen the record in this proceeding to consider them.

Respectfully submitted,
