Dear Mr. []

As we discussed by telephone this morning, I am enclosing the fully executed originals of the statements of [] regarding information which they provided to you during your interviews of them in []

I am also enclosing the statement of [] statement is signed only on the last page, rather than on each page and contains a few minor typographical errors. We agreed on the phone this morning that I would provide [] statement to you in its current form, and that upon your next visit to the South Texas Project (STP), which is currently scheduled for [] will be able to substitute a corrected statement that is signed on each page.

As we discussed this morning, I have attempted to contact [] today, but was unable to reach [] Therefore, I am not forwarding [] statement with this letter, but I hope to get it to you early next week.

I have confirmed that [] and [] will all be available to be interviewed by you at STP on [] The first interview will begin at 8:30 AM on that date as you requested. I am checking on the availability of [] during the week of [] and will call you next week with [] answer.
