DOCKET NOS. 50-508 AND 50-509
RESPONSE TO:

- 1) IE BULLETIN NO. 83-07, "APPARENTLY FRAUDULENT PRODUCTS SOLD BY RAY MILLER, INC."
- 2) IE BULLETIN NO. 83-07, SUPPLEMENT NO. 1, SAME SUBJECT
- 3) IE BULLETIN NO. 83-07, SUPPLEMENT NO. 2, SAME SUBJECT

The subject IE Bulletin and Supplements requested licensees of facilities with construction permits or operating licenses to provide a written response within eight (8) months of the date of the subject Bulletin.

The Supply System has conducted a thorough search of its own purchases and requested all suppliers and contractors to review their subcontractors' procurement documents and respond in writing to the Supply System.

The investigation revealed one supplier (HPD, Inc.) who furnished material purchased from Ray Miller, Inc. The material is installed in the Inorganic Chemical Waste Separators, non safety-related equipment. Subsequent engineering evaluation has concluded that effects of utilizing the potentially fraudulent material is inconsequential, with respect to the design/operational characteristics of the equipment, and therefore requires no further evaluation/action.

As requested by the subject Bulletin, time expended during research, evaluation and preparing a written response has amounted to approximately 300 manhours of Supply System effort. We did not request that suppliers keep track of time spent in performing their reviews. However, based on the number of WNP-3 suppliers involved (58), we estimate that response to the Bulletin required several hundred manhours of suppliers' time.
