This letter, as were the referenced letters, is an interim 10CFR50.55(e) report concerning Reactor Building Spray Anchors.

As of our last report, pipe hanger testing had been completed. Since then, the reactor building spray system stress analysis has been revised and evaluated and necessary changes have been made to isometrics and construction drawings. At this time, construction records are being checked to confirm that hangers originally were installed within tolerances specified by construction drawings. Discrepancies, if any, will be documented and reflected into piping analyses and drawings.

Another report, either interim or final, will be submitted on or before June 29, 1984.
