Director, Office of Enforcement
US Nuclear Regulatory Commission
Washington, DC 20555

In response to the Demand for Answers. Yes, I am currently employed, but not under any company subject to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

In the time which I was employed at Calvert Cliffs, as with any job I have had, I take my work seriously and give 100% to whatever I do as my employment record and past history will show. I enjoy my work and enjoy learning all that I can so that I in return can teach others which gives me great pleasure.

While I was at Calvert Cliffs, I could do this on a daily basis. I took my experience and training that I have to teach and give new, better, and safer ideas that would benefit the company. In doing so over a period of time, I became a supervisor for the Contractor in which I worked for at Calvert Cliffs. At no time while I was employed at Calvert Cliffs was I ever reprimanded or cited for any procedure or safety violation. I only wanted to do the best that I could do for the company and those who work there. My actions and performance at Calvert Cliffs were of sincerity as all who know me can verify. I can assure the Nuclear Regulatory Commission that you may have the utmost confidence that I now or in the future will comply with the requirements including complete and accurate information as the sole reason of not disclosing that I was an illegal alien was the fear of deportation. I can not undo the mistake that I have made in the past, but I wish to have the opportunity to prove to the Commission that I am sincere in that what I have learned has had an everlasting impact and my future will be guided by what I now know. I recognize the importance of addressing problems directly and properly and have developed a true understanding for the need to ensure absolute truth regardless of the conditions, as to do otherwise my subject myself to the possibility others may try to use something against me. I have always been truthful in all other areas of my life and the error in judgment has been related to only my status in the United States. I recognize that the culture in which I was raised and the lack of understanding of American views and or society as it is here in the United States is somewhat different. I now understand those differences having spent the amount of time I have here. As a result, I am willing, should and can abide by the laws and culture of the United States. I have been a productive member of society and my community. I am a homeowner, have a family, and pay taxes just like all others.

In answer to your last demand for answer, I did deliberately but without malice or intent to deceive my employer about my work background and experience. It was done based solely on my fear of deportation.

In final, there is a small in accuracy that I wish to point out. While I did apply for a passport under another name, I never pursued the document as I later learned the seriousness of what I had done. In Paragraph One of the Demand for Answers, the letter states that "I was an illegal alien who had received a passport under another name." I sincerely wish to be given a chance to prove what I have learned and that I can be an asset.

In closing, I ask that should the Commission rule I should be excluded from an ability to work for an employer regulated by the Commission, consideration as given to the 15 months that I have been subject to that limitation. The Department of Immigration has granted me a legal resident of the United States effective January 1996.

Sincerely,

Juan Guzman 2-8-96
