I have just heard over the radio of your intention to allow radioactive metals to be recycled and combined with non-radioactive metals to be used in common consumer goods.

I am outraged and protest vehemently! Other experts disagree with figures you use to estimate health risks and I tend to agree with them. But, ultimately ~~no~~ one knows how many people would have their health impaired or die as a result of the proposed practice. So what gives you the right to tamper with my health? I should have the right to buy goods knowing that no recycled radioactive metals have been used in their production. As a tax-paying citizen, I demand that this proposal not be adopted.
