Safeguards Information Transmittals from NRC

Dear Sir:

On December 28, 1982, and again on July 29, 1983, letters were sent to you requesting a change in the distribution of material which is determined to be Safeguards Information in accordance with 10 CFR 73.21. These requests were initiated because the usual primary recipient did not have receptacles qualified to provide the mandated control necessary to assure Safeguards protection.

This request was honored since that time until your submittal of May 31, 1984, concerning revisions to the Security and Contingency Plans. This communication was identified as Safeguards Information, and both the original and Safeguards attachment were transmitted to the primary recipient.

Once again, this request was honored until your submittal of April 30, 1985, concerning the Safeguards Regulatory Effectiveness Review. The original and the lengthy Safeguards Information attachment were forwarded to the primary correspondence recipient, who does not have the proper storage facilities for Safeguards Information.

Please be advised that the primary recipient should remain the same in all but Safeguards transmittals. When Safeguards Information is included in a transmittal, however, it should be detached from the original transmittal to the primary recipient and forwarded with a copy of the original transmittal to the following:

Edward R. MacCormack
Sr. Regulatory Affairs and Programs Engineer

In this manner, this proprietary material can be controlled in accordance with the requirements established by 10 CFR 73.21, and made available only to those who have a need to know.

We appreciate your attention to this request. Should you require any further information concerning it, please contact us.

Very truly yours,

WD Harrington
