Writing concerning my license and registration fee. I am a small office that uses Nuclear material strictly for doing bone densitometry testing on my patients. I have found that since the fees for the gadolinium have risen significantly as well as the fees for my license have risen significantly that it is financially not feasible for me to continue providing this service for my patients. I subsequently will be allowing my license to lapse. I would like to know that if I do decide to get back into this again in the future that if there is some way I could re-apply for my licence without having to go through all of the licensing procedures that I had to go through to get my license to start with.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Richard W. Cross, M.D.
