Gentlemen:

Your application for Amendment No. 37 to the above referenced license contained an Operator's Manual for the Theratron 780-C which is copyrighted. All material submitted in support of license applications is reproduced in microform, and filed on our Document Control System (DCS). Copyrighted material cannot be so copied without the express permission of the copyright holder. (Proprietary information is generally not copied onto the DCS.) It is important that all material relevant to an application be available on the DCS. You have the following options:

1. Do not submit copyrighted material as part of an application. Supply the required information in some other form.
2. Furnish blanket permission to copy copyrighted material submitted by you onto the DCS.
3. If it is impossible to furnish required information in any other way, and irreparable harm would result from public disclosure of the copyrighted material, a small amount of copyrighted material can be accepted as part of an application, and withheld from disclosure.

With respect to the Operator's Manual for the Theratron 780-C, please furnish either permission to copy or an explanation of why the material should be withheld. At the same time, please inform us of your decision on how you plan to handle this problem in the future.

Sincerely,

Original Signed By:
